Course Overview: What is this course about?

This course is an introduction into issues at the intersection of "urban" and "environment." It is for those interested in learning more about these concepts and the path forward towards creating more just and equitable environments and cities. This course introduces students to the political, economic, and social aspects of the environment with a focus on the role of government, policy, and social change. This course explores the intersection of race, poverty, and inequity in the environment and introduces how issues of race, class, gender, and workers' rights interact with the natural and built environments.

for non-UEP majors who are interested in the topics and examining the urban and environmental linkages to other disciplines. The course is an opportunity for students to interactiviroy10 [d d tn1(s)16 (a)i6 (-s)2 (s)6 (T (tv) (n)10 -ehe)3 (o)-2s 10 [d ooy10 [dng and an se

Classroom Community

This course is intended to provoke discussion and new understandings of the urban environment we live in. Toward this end, the course will grapple with discussions about inequity, power, race, class, and gender. We expect our class times and discussions to be a productive space for open, honest, and thoughtful discussion that recognizes and respects differences and acknowledges the broad range of knowledge we bring to the classroom and discussion. Please remember that our focus in thisrse is the issues, texts, course materials and presentations themselves, and not the personalities, identities, or opinions of other participants in the discussion.

The professors and students share the responsibility of creating the space and stimulating enthusiasm for learning. The professors are responsible for structuring and facilitating a space for learning and achieving course goals. Students are responsible for attending and participating in class, completing assignments in a timely mannerglement to discuss readings and material in class, and contributing to a robust learning environment and community. With this goal, students are also responsible for engaging in respectful, open, and thoughtful discussion with each other and the professs

Course Objectives

The goals of this course are to examine the idea of "environment" and how it relates to the urban context. Through readings, films, class exercises, and discussions, students will:

Gain insights and critical thinking about cities, urban and environmental issues as well as understand the role of policy, organizing, and social movements in addressing these conditions.

Develop analytic skills to make connections between the economic, political, social, and spatial aspects of cities article environment, particularly related to jobs, health, economic development, housing, transportation and the built environment, neighborhood and regional planning, and community development.

Progress in active reading, critical thinking, analytical vgritamd discussion skills through the synthesis of sources, including lectso6a12 -0 58

Please pay attention to the Moodle site for any changes to the schedule and/or the readings.

Moodle Reading Discussions:

Before each class meeting, students will write a short post that includes a) antampor theme or idea from one of the readings and b) a question based on that same reading. These short posts, they need not be any longer than 50 words, will help the class reflect on readings in preparation for discussing them in class. You may also commether student's responses. Posts are due by 9am on Tuesday and Thursday mornings before class.

Joint Classes:

Over the semester, we will hold joint classes where both sections of 101 will meet together because of guest speakers or scheduling issues.

Important Note: i4 s

Late Assignment Policy

Timely submission of assignments is important for UEP. With the increased amount of digital communication and responsibilities for staff and faculty this semester, timely submission is even more crucial. Late assignments derail faculty's ability to provide timely grading and necessary comments to improve ur work.

Late assignments should still be posted to Moodle. They will be marked down one letter grade (e.g., from B to B for each 24period that they are late.

We understand that things come up and especially this semester. If there is a health or medical issue, family emergency, or a similar situation, I recognize that these types of life issues can

If you are feeling any symptoms of illness, even if they are slight, please refrain from attending class until explicitly cleared by Emmons. Similarly, if you have a known exposure to someone who has tested positive for COVID-19, please do not return to class until Emmons confirms that you are cleared to participate in your usual activities.

Student Support Services

The College provides a wide range of Student Academic Supposurces.

If you'd like to take advantage of the College's Academic Coaching resownites offers oneon-one sessions focused on supporting your time management skills, online learning strategies, and other study skills, you may schedule an academic coaching meeting by sending an email to academiccoaching@oxy.Share what you'd like to

All members of the Occidental community are committed to uphold the highest degree of academic integrity. Unless stipulated otherwise, the academic work done for all assignments is expected to be the student's own, and students give proper credit to the ideas and work of others.

Signing the Academic Integrity Commitment at matriculation and at the beginning of every semester represents a student's affirmation to uphold the shared values of hæsty and integrity. When signing the Integrity Commitment associated with work in a course, students are affirming that they have not cheated, plagiarized, fabricated, or falsified information; nor assisted others in these actions.

Plagiarism Policy

Plagiarism consists of any form of passing off, or attempting to pass off, the knowledge or work of others as your own. It is a form of cheating. Examples of plagiarism include: unattributed quotations from a book, magazine, or article; copying from the ntes or essays of others; the submission of work actually written or dictated by others; and unattributed use of other people's ideas. Remember, plagiarism includes information from books, newspapers, journals, and the Internet. Plagiarism is grounds for failing the course and possible expulsion from the college.

Students should consult Occidental's student handbook for information on academic misconduct policy at the collegeps://www.oxy.edu/student-handbook/academiæthics/academimisconduct

Title IX statement, and statement of role of faculty member as a mandatory reporter (Linkto Title IX)

In the event you choose to write or speak about having experienced sexual or interpersonal violence, including sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, stalking, sexual exploitation or any other form of sexual harassment, as designated Responsible Employees, professors must notify the Title IX Office. They will contact you to let you know about accommodations and support services at Oxy and reporting options both on and oftenpus.

If you do not want the Title IX Office notified, instead of disclosing this information to your instructor, either through conversation or a class assignment, you can speak confidentially with the following people on campus:

Special Accommodations/Learning Differences

No matter the mode of course instruction, approved academic accommodations remain in effect. Students with documented disabilities and learning differences who are registered with Disability Services are required to present their accommodation letter to the instructor at the beginning of each semester, or as soon as possible thereafter. Any student who has, or thinks they may have, a physical, learning, or psychological disability may contact Disability Services at accessibility@oxtodearn about available services and support. More information is available at http://www.oxy.edu/disability-services.

Accommodations for Reasons of Faith and Conscience

Consistent with Occidental College's commitment to creating an academic community that is respectful of and welcoming to persons of differing backgrounds, we believe that students should be excused from class for reasons of faith and conscience without academic consequence. While it is not feasible to schedule coursework around all days of conviction for a class as a whole, faculty will honor requests from individual students to reschedule coursework, to be absent from classes that conflict with the fittenti days. Information about this process is available on the ORSL website: https://www.oxy.edu/office-religious-spiritual-life

Discrimination, Harassment, and Retaliation

We strive to foster an inclusive classroom environment. Consistent with College policy on discrimination_harassment, and retaliation we seek to maintain an environment of mutual respect among all members of our community. Please reach out to us with any concerns. Students witdocumented disabilities and learning differences who are registered with Disability Services are required to present their accommodation letter to the instructor at the beginning of each semester, or as soon as possible thereafter. Any student who has, othinks they may have, a physical, learning, or psychological disability may contact Disability Servicesatessibility@oxy.edto learn about available services and support.
